This book supplies a complete Digest of the Laws relating to Elections to date of publication, and records the results of all important cases up to the judgment in the Taunton Election Petition, just given. A full Index is added.

* Mr. Justice Grove quoted from an early proof of this work in his judgment in the Taunton election petition (Jan. 26), in which the Attorney-General was respondent.

"Must be admitted to fill an important gap, and will, no doubt, be extensively used, both by defeated candidates and by election judges."—Athenæum.

Crown 8vo, cloth gilt, 5s.

Told by the Waves: Stories in Nature. By HELEN ZIMMERN, Author of "Stories in Precious Stones."

"Miss Zimmer writes with feeling, pathos, and a graceful and abundant fancy."—Times.

"A quaint and successful attempt to humanise external nature by endowing the whole family of mother earth with speech and intelligence."—Daily Telegraph.

"A volume of sweet poetical stories as fanciful as they are fascinating."—Graphic.

"May be read and read again with pleasure and advantage."—Queen.

"Really charming fairy tales. The authoress has attained an exquisite simplicity of style. The book will greatly increase her circle of admirers."—Christian World.

NEW NOVEL BY JEANIE HERING.

Three Vols., crown 8vo, 31s. 6d.

Through the Mist. By JEANIE HERING, Author of "Truth will Out," "Garry," "Golden Days," &c., &c.

A NEW PRESENT FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS.

With 250 Illustrations, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt, 5s.

The Children's Pleasure Book: a Treasury of Original Stories, Biographies, Poems, Sunday Readings, &c. By W. H. G. KINGSTON, JEANIE HERING, W. BURNETT, the Author of "Poems written for a Child," the Author of "Brave Lisette," A. G. FORBES, HELEN ZIMMERN, and other Popular Authors of Children's Books.

"A very charming book, which appeals to the wondering thoughts of children as well as to their simplicity; it is a selection such as the title describes, made with a good deal of insight into child nature. We think it will be a favourite."—British Quarterly Review.

"This pretty-looking volume abounds in good stories, pleasant papers, and dainty illustrations, likely to attract the eyes and ears of children. The appearance of the book will satisfy also the severer taste of grown-up people."—Pail Mail Gazette.

"A carefully compiled book of tales, biographies, and readings for the young. . . . From the contents of this volume children may select reading of almost every kind. Stories, rhymes, and copious illustrations remove all chance of the instructive portion of the book being found heavy."—Standard.

"Contains not less than 250 illustrations, not rough and hard, but of a superior character; while the stories and biographical essays, &c., make it a storehouse of most attractive reading."—Christian World.

"Contains much to instruct, mere to amuse, and a great deal of both combined. The illustrations are numerous and good."—Graphic.

"This elegantly got-up book is admirably suited to carry out its prefatory announcement. Besides the numerous interesting short stories, there are nice bits of poetry, some biographical sketches, and much miscellaneous reading calculated to give sound information."—Glasgow Herald.

"A perfect mine of amusement and instruction for young people. . . . This volume is calculated to cultivate the artistic taste as well as the intellect, and, from the nature of its pictorial and literary contents, has a standard and permanent value."—The Queen.

A MARRIAGE CHRISTMAS: a very Small-beer Chronicle for Youngsters. By an Elder Brother. With Two Illustrations.
TANGIBLE COMPLIMENTS: a Gossip about Christmas Gifts.
THE CALENDAR, comprised within Twelve Pages, with beautifully designed and engraved Borders illustrating the Months.

"Contains a calendar, encircled by floral and other illustrations, with stories, poetry, amusing Christmas articles, and some nice engravings. The tales are interesting and pleasantly written. . . . It will, when examined, prove to be not the least attractive of the many varied and delightful Christmas publications."—Morning Post.

"Messrs. Virtue & Co. deserve credit for having produced one of the best annuals that have appeared this year."—Observer.

"Contains a pictorial almanack, the embellishments of which are at once rich in fancy and beautiful in execution; some genial stories, and the literature à propos of the season, with numerous admirable woodcuts and three fine steel engravings."—Bristol Mercury.

"Certainly one of the handsomest Christmas books of the season."—Court Express.

"The first number of a series, which we may fairly hope will be indefinitely prolonged."—City Press.

"By far the most artistic work of the kind which we have seen this season. The literary contents are pleasantly written and well illustrated."—Glasgow Herald.

"This is a very elegant publication, comparatively cheap, yet fit to be laid on any table. The first part of the work consists of an elegant pictorial calendar for the year; the rest is devoted to stories, sketches, and poetry. The stories are interesting, and in the 'Rigmorole' Essay by Sawyer Krawt there is not a little good sense."—Sheffield Daily Telegraph.

"The 'Fine Art Annual' is a very good one. It contains an excellent calendar for 1872, several admirable stories and poems, and is profusely and splendidly illustrated. It deserves a large measure of success."—Birmingham Morning News.

"The most elegant of all the Christmas issues of the magazine order is the 'Fine Art Annual.'"—Exeter Gazette.

"There are few Annuals upon which so much care is bestowed as manifestly has been lavished upon this. It will have an interest and a usefulness not only at Christmas time, but throughout the whole year."—Scotsman.

"The stories are admirably constructed for Christmas reading. They are partly pathetic, partly humorous, and all carrying with them—in solution, not in didactic form—wholesome lessons of Christian charity, humanity, and the cultivation of a genial and kindly disposition."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

"Produced with care, grace, and delicacy. . . . The tales in the 'Annual' are interesting, and the woodcut illustrations very graceful. . . . A better or more tasteful book to lie on a drawing-room table of a lady we have not seen."—Publishers' Circular.

"This 'Annual,' printed on fine paper, and enclosed in a warm coat of delicate grey, is a welcome addition to the literature of Christmas."—Bookseller.

"The stories are well told, and are redolent of schoolboy life."—British Quarterly Review.

"Another book for boys, and a very good one; the stories seem healthy, natural, and spirited, and quite free from cant or priggishness."—Graphic.

Pioneers of the Christian Faith. By A. GRUAR FORBES.

Contents:—The Beginning of the Gospel in many Lands; Eminent Christian Teachers of the earlier stages; Early Christianity in Britain; Introduction of Christianity into America; The Gospel in Ancient Gaul and subsequent France; Introduction of the Gospel into Germany; The Reformation; Other Churches in other Lands; Modern Missions.

"A good prize. It traces the growth of Christianity with considerable clearness, and is the result of much study."—Christian World.

"Carefully written, in a spirit of fairness and with wisdom."—British Quarterly Review.

"A well-written and carefully compiled history of the rise and progress of Christianity down to the present time. Entirely free from sectarian prejudice and bitterness."—Graphic.

Six by Two: Stories of Old Schoolfellows. By EDITH DIXON and MARY DE MORGAN.

Contents:—The French Girl at our School; A Ramble on the Rhine; Lillian and Lacy; How Nelly went to School; A Midnight Adventure; The Fault of the Roses.

"A bundle of fresh and pleasant reminiscences of school-girl days. . . . We can recommend them for holiday reading. Their illustrations are excellent."—Times.

"English girls will not the less like these pleasantly written stories because they are about foreign school-life."—Saturday Review.

"These stories display considerable talent and originality, and while interesting in themselves, are told in a fresh, graceful manner, which adds much to the enjoyment of the reader. The volume, moreover, contains eight excellent illustrations of most bewitching tit-bits from nature."—Graphic.

"Of a sensible, healthy, bracing interest. Work and play, duty and relaxation, hardship and enjoyment, are all represented. The book is prettily got up, and is illustrated by engravings of a superior order."—Scotsman.

"The book, in a word, is delightful, and will please not only the class for which it was written, but those who, in perusing it, will be charmed back to recollections of their own girlhood."—Globe.

The Empires and Cities of Asia. By A. GRUAR FORBES.

Contents:—Topography, Languages, and Natural History; Turkey in Asia; Arabia; Persia; Russia in Asia; The Tartars; Britain in India; China; Japan; Conclusion.

"The topography, languages, and nations of Asia are severally treated, and their annals condensed, with wisdom and adequate knowledge."—British Quarterly Review.

"The Author has succeeded in presenting a volume which is complete in geographical and historical information, and at the same time thoroughly entertaining. Accompanying this handsome little volume is a well-executed map of Asia."—London and China Telegraph.

Alice de Burgh: a Home Story for Girls. By LIZZIE JOYCE TOMLINSON.

. Other Volumes are in preparation.

ART GIFT-BOOKS AND PRIZES.

"A series of valuable papers. . . . A lucid text, terse, and full of matter, excellently assists the illustrations, which of themselves would be a welcome boon to the antiquarian."—Daily Telegraph.

"The illustrations alone, taken as they are from some old rare manuscripts and other trustworthy sources, would make this volume extremely valuable."—Ibid.

RECENT FINE ART PUBLICATIONS.

Royal 4to, handsomely bound in cloth gilt, with 16 Illustrations, 21s.

Our British Landscape Painters, from Samuel Scott to David Cox. With a Preliminary Essay and Biographical Notices by WILLIAM B. SCOTT, Author of "Half-hour Lectures on Art," "The British School of Sculpture," "Life of Albert Dürer," &c. Containing Sixteen large Engravings on Steel, from Famous Pictures by Scott, Turner, Constable, Gainsborough, Ward, Callcott, Stanfield, Creswick, Cox, and others.

"We have here an exquisite volume. Some of the most delightful landscapes of our best English artists—the supreme masters of landscape painting—are selected for reproduction, and the engravings are of the highest order of excellence."—Daily News.

"Ward, Turner, Constable, Callcott, Danby, and Nasmyth, are all charmingly represented, as are also Stanfield, Roberts, Hardwick, Creswick, and Cox, and it is scarcely necessary to say that the engravings are beautifully executed."—Morning Post.

Imperial 4to, elegantly bound in cloth gilt, with 9 Steel Engravings, 16s.

Pictures by William Mulready, R.A. With Descriptions, and a Biographical Sketch of the Painter, by JAMES DAFFORNE.

"The engravings are by Stocks, Heath, and others, and the nine pictures selected comprise some of the best and best-known works of the Irish Wilkie."—Times.

"Another delightful Art-Volume is a collection of Mulready's pictures. With most or with all of them the public is familiar, but not the less acceptable will be the present collection of beautiful engravings; the letterpress also is worthy to accompany them, paper and type being alike excellent."—Morning Post.

"The nine pictures engraved in this volume are all splendid specimens of the engraver's art, and well selected examples of Mulready's manner at different periods of his career."—Ecce.

Imperial 4to, with 9 Steel Engravings, handsomely bound in cloth gilt, 16s.

Pictures by C. R. Leslie, R.A. With Descriptive Notices, and a Biographical Sketch of the Painter, by JAMES DAFFORNE.

"A true picture-book, eloquently and practically pleading for picture-books, is this sumptuous volume. The engravings represent as worthy a selection of Leslie's works as any admirers of his refined genius could wish."—Telegraph.

Imperial 4to, handsomely bound in cloth gilt, with 11 Steel Engravings, 16s.

Pictures by Daniel Maclise, R.A. With Descriptions, and a Biographical Sketch of the Painter, by JAMES DAFFORNE.

"Mr. Dafforne's volume is a worthy monument to the genius of Maclise."—Bookseller.

Imperial 4to, elegantly bound in cloth gilt, with 20 Steel Engravings, 31s. 6d.

Leslie and Maclise. Specimens of the Works of these celebrated Artists. With Descriptive and Biographical Notices by JAMES DAFFORNE.

"These two books are produced in the same manner, and a series of engravings from the work of a deceased master in his art, published in this style, appears to be exactly the right way to celebrate our leading artists as they pass from the stage. The memoirs of both artists are exceedingly well related."—Academy.

"The binding and get-up are most creditable, and Mr. Dafforne's pages descriptive of the pictures enhance the attraction of the book."—Standard.

Imperial 4to, handsomely bound in cloth gilt, with 20 Steel Engravings and 50 Woodcuts, 21s.

The British School of Sculpture. With a Preliminary Essay, and Notices of the Artists, by WILLIAM B. SCOTT, Author of "Our British Landscape Painters," "Life of Albert Dürer," &c.

"A resplendent drawing-room table-book. A handsome and artistic volume."—Echo.

"The volume contains twenty elaborate steel engravings, supplemented with numerous woodcuts. In a pictorial and literary view the book is remarkable, and has the rather unusual merit of being at once popular and trustworthy."—Bookseller.

"Let us give one glance to the exquisite genius which lends this great charm to Mr. Scott's volume. Many of the woodcuts from Flaxman's monumental reliefs are sufficiently delicate to give a fair idea of that genius. As we turn from one little group to another, finding in each a new version of that tale of sorrow which, of all tales, has been most outworn by the sculptor's art, what a singular variety and freshness in its rendering is set before us, what a truth to human feeling, what ever-present tenderness and elevation! Each of these woodcuts is a little poem from life, simplified and idealized by Flaxman's genius. Mr. Scott cannot write without showing an artist's feeling, and (what does not always co-exist with this) a genial sympathy for art of diverse aims and merits."—Saturday Review.

In Four Vols., folio, cloth extra, gilt edges, with 152 Steel Engravings, £8 8s.

National Gallery of British Pictures. Edited by S. C. HALL, F.S.A., containing about 150 First-class Line Engravings of the Pictures in the Vernon Collection, with a Selection of 53 of the best Works of Modern Statuary.

The Vernon Gallery was presented by Robert Vernon, Esq., to the National Gallery by deed bearing date 22nd December, 1847. The Pictures are all of such a nature as to be readily understood and appreciated, for the most part representing subjects which appeal at once to the heart as well as the mind of all beholders. By special permission, the Publishers were allowed to engrave the whole of these Pictures. This has been done at an enormous cost, the best engravers and printers having been employed to do justice to a work of so national and representative a character.

In folio, cloth, gilt edges, £4 4s.

The Wilkie Gallery. A Selection of Engravings of the best Paintings of Sir David Wilkie, R.A., including his Spanish and Oriental Sketches, with Notices Biographical and Critical, a Portrait of Wilkie, and a View of his Birthplace.

Art-Journal (The). A Monthly Record of the Fine Arts, the Industrial Arts, and the Arts of Design and Manufacture. Illustrated with numerous Engravings on Steel and Wood. Monthly Parts, 2s. 6d.

YEARLY VOLUMES, handsomely bound, 31s. 6d.

Twenty-five years ago the ART-JOURNAL took up a position in which it has never since been shaken, and which it now holds with all the increased security of so many years' experience. The growing responsibility that accompanies growing success has at all times been recognised by the proprietors, and they can look upon the long line of volumes extending back to 1848 (in its present form) as no mean memorial of constant effort. They can record also with some pride and satisfaction that in every instance they have been rewarded by the approval and support of their subscribers.

The ART-JOURNAL is to the Art-world what the Times is to the metropolis. From the first issue it has remained true to its avowed purpose, and has been "a monthly record of the Fine Arts, the Industrial Arts, and the Arts of Design and Manufacture," and as these different departments have been, and are, always entrusted to those who are best acquainted with the matters to be treated, the volumes of the ART-JOURNAL really constitute a history in detail of the progress of Art generally, illustrated with some thousands of engravings on steel and wood.

Each number of the ART-JOURNAL is illustrated with THREE STEEL PLATES, a variety of engravings on wood, and includes thirty-two pages (royal 4to) of letter-press.

Royal 4to, cloth, gilt edges.

Art-Journal Illustrated Catalogues.

In addition to full illustrated records of the Great Exhibitions held in London, Paris, Manchester, Dublin, Birmingham, America, Vienna, &c., a continuous account of the proceedings of the Royal Academy and of all the principal Societies connected with Art, upwards of FIFTY COMPLETE AND EXHAUSTIVE WORKS upon special subjects of permanent interest will be found in these Volumes, all profusely illustrated with Wood Engravings. The list of writers includes the names of nearly all those Gentlemen who have identified themselves with Art during the period which these Volumes cover.

"A regular and conscientious study of the ART-JOURNAL is almost an artistic education. It is the continental fashion to ignore English Music, English Painting, and English Art-products—but there is perhaps no country in the world where so much classical music is heard, or so many high-class pictures bought, or where a journal of so costly a character as this is so efficiently sustained."—British Quarterly Review.

"What a noble collection of splendid works!—it was in the pages of the ART-JOURNAL rather than the cellars of the National Gallery that the people became acquainted with their surpassing merits."—The Bookseller, after giving a list of some of the principal artists whose works have appeared in the ART-JOURNAL.
